

The FCC should not implement any proposal that will lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's Telephone privacy law has made my time at home much more enjoyable. I do not receive any more calls from annoying telemarketers. Previously, I would receive 5 or 6 calls a night. I am on the phone a lot during the day, and want peace and quiet when I come home at night. I haven't received any calls since my name went onto Indiana's no-call list. This law is essential to the well-being of the citizens of Indiana and the FCC should not do anything to disturb it.